

at&t

Your world. Delivered.

DUDE! The Hugh Thompson Show brings celebrated übergeeks to the screen in a wildly entertaining internet-based variety talk show, produced by AT&T.

The Hugh Thompson Show

It's a geek's world, and Hugh owns it

Internet security guru and author Dr. Herbert "Hugh" Thompson has seen it all – hacked voting machines, airline computer insecurities, e-commerce vulnerabilities and cell phone exploits. Hugh brings a lifetime of security expertise and a wide-eyed enthusiasm to The Hugh Thompson Show.

Where the elite come to meet

Security luminaries drop by for every show, and members of the live studio audience also get in on the act, revealing techno tales of woe in "Geeks Anonymous." The Hugh Thompson Band creates insta-hits about penetration testing, rogue laptops and more of your favorite hacking terms in "Security Band Challenge."

Catch the feed

The Hugh Thompson Show premieres exclusively this spring on the new AT&T Tech Channel - the place to go to when you need to feed your inner geek. From daily tech news to the viral shorts of Random Access Theater, AT&T Tech Channel has something for everybody.

For more information, check out <http://www.att.com/techchannel>.

Recent guests of The Hugh Thompson Show include:

Dr. Steve Bellovin

Internet Security Legend

Bill Cheswick

Internet Security Pioneer

HD Moore, Director of Security Research, BreakingPoint Systems

Dr. Avi Rubin, President,

Independent Security Evaluators

Dr. Rebecca Wright, Professor, Stevens Institute of Technology

